

Global Website:
www.international-mens-day.com

● INTERNATIONAL
MENS DAY
November 19

The 'International Men's Day' Global Website is maintained by IMD-Nonprofit, a registered organisation established to provide accurate and comprehensive information about IMD.

The goal of IMD-Nonprofit is to promote positive role models for our men and boys to afford a sense of identity and purpose for contributing to building sustainable, safe and growing communities.

Our guiding charter of principles is laid out in the 'Six Pillars' of International Men's Day:

1. Promoting positive male role models.
2. Celebrating men's positive contributions.
3. Focusing on men's health and wellbeing.
4. Highlighting discrimination.
5. Improving gender relations and promoting equality.
6. Creating a safer, better world.

IMD provides opportunities for men and women to appreciate the positive contributions that men and boys make and reject the portrayal of negative male gender stereotypes as the 'norm'.

For more information, visit the 'International Men's Day' global website at www.international-mens-day.com

'International Men's Day' Coordination Committee (2008 – 2009)

Dr Jerome Teelucksingh, Founder (Trinidad & West Indies)

Jason Thompson, Historian and Global Promotions Coordinator
(Australia)

Uma Challa, Coordinator for India

Diane Sears, Coordinator for USA